

Welcome to JCMU!

- When is a bell joint leak clamp necessary?
- What are common pipe materials?
- How do I develop and maintain a working contingency plan?
- What's the difference between a universal clamp coupling and fabricated repair sleeve?

Remember all those questions you had when you first entered the industry, and even decades into the job? Well, we're here to finally answer them.

The water and wastewater industry consists of centuries worth of history and knowledge. It's information that is very rarely written down, located in one place, and not available for just anyone to access...until now. By organizing our vast knowledge and experience, JCM Industries University (JCMU) is an educational opportunity not often found in our industry. And now, we are finally ready to release this FREE e-learning platform, powered by a well-known LMS provider called BlueVolt. With their strong presence in the water and wastewater industry, partnering with BlueVolt will also lead to even more exposure of our courses through their sharing center.

Housed at jcmindustriesu.com, JCMU courses can be viewed, clicked through, and read by you today. Use your desktop, iPad, or smartphone – it all works the same. Whether you're in the field or at the office, JCMU is knowledge available 24/7 right at your fingertips.

These concise, detailed videos are a great learning tool for co-workers and personnel new to the pipe fittings industry – fast tracking exposure to many basics of the water and wastewater products will ensure their confidence when dealing with pipeline issues.

By taking advantage of this new platform about our products and the industry, you not only gain essential knowledge, but you also might get rewarded in the process. Anyone who creates a JCMU account by December 1 will be entered in a sweepstakes where five lucky learners will win a JCM Industries swag pack!

So, what are you waiting for? With 13 courses to currently choose from, and more added each quarter, check them out today!
